

Planothidium victorbrownii is a new alga species discovered and isolated in the Styx River catchment in 2010. This name has been proposed as a tribute to Victor Brown's significant contribution to the community volunteer monitoring work of the Styx Living Laboratory Trust.